Look at ALL THE GREEN in the MARKET FACTORS, COUNTS & RATINGS table near the end of this FULL newsletter. It's a beautiful table! But sometimes green can be overdone.

Since the first of the new year, I have been concerned that the market has shown an unsustainable rising price line.

See this powerful rise in 2018 – refer to Nasdaq and S&P500 price rises on the market charts in the FULL Armchair Investor newsletter shown on www.ArmchairInvestor.com.

What is driving the market so hard this year?

- “Sometimes, this increasing slope is caused by a rational expectation of increasing earnings.”
 - That makes sense with the change in tax rules and can be sustainable in the short run.
- “But sometimes, the increasing slope is an indication of irrational exuberance which usually ends badly with a quick drop.”
 - If that is the case, we won't know till after it happens!” Keep your stops up to date!

How can you protect your portfolio if this run-up ends with a fast drop?

It may make sense to put in a trailing stop if you are in a trend-following ETF. Just leave some “wobble room” for the ETF to bounce along as it grows. Many investors use a trailing stop equal to twice the average true range of what you are protecting.

The market has a VERY low number of distribution days:

- The Nasdaq distribution day count is 1.

- The S&P500 distribution day count is 1.

I suspect more will come shortly. If so, I would consider that rise a warning!

INDIVIDUAL STOCKS: Holding onto your winners is a prudent strategy right now as long as they don't show signs of failing such as a concentration of distribution days. Don't let the emotions of non-fact based commentators persuade you to sell some of your winners just to pocket some of the gains.

REMEMBER:

THE MARKET CONTINUES IN THE DIRECTION IT'S GOING UNTIL IT DOESN'T.

Do you know when your stocks report? You can look at your brokerage site or go to: www.Finance.yahoo.com/calendar/earnings

Sometimes a stock price drops even if it has a good earnings report. How can that happen? The market is more interested in the future than the past. After a good earnings report, the market immediately says:

“Atta boy! Good job! Now.....what are going to do for me next?”

If forward guidance is weak, there may be a sell-off!

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS FOR INVESTORS IN INDIVIDUAL STOCKS

More detailed comments on market direction and technical analysis for individual stocks

FRIDAY : Investor's Business Daily has hinted at some strong stocks at or near buy points.

The www.investors.com article "Workday and These 3 Energy Stocks Are Near Buy Points In First-Stage Bases" points to some juicy stocks that all just broke out of their cup bases (subscription required to read the articles.) And these stocks are all first-stage bases. Be sure to verify earnings announcement dates on all stocks you are considering:

- Workday (WDAY),
- Halliburton (HAL),
- Pioneer Natural Resources (PXD) and
- RSP Permian (RSPP).

Friday's Big Picture column also mentioned "Small Caps Surge; 11 Stocks That Could Break Out Soon". Just one winner in these stocks could pay for your annual subscription to Investors.com – for years!

PLEASE READ THIS "LAGGING RS LINE" WARNING IF YOU MISSED IT:

I am staying away from many stocks with lagging RS (relative strength) lines in their latest base. An RS line usually dips while the left side of a base is formed – it frequently represents a divergence from the general market progress. But a good stock will make up the dip (and frequently more) as it builds the right side of the base so the RS line recovers. When the base ends with a lagging RS line, it means this stock has under-performed the market average.

I seldom want to buy stocks that are in the bottom half of market performance. Recently, I have skipped (or bought smaller positions) in some stocks with otherwise excellent ratings but have lagging RS lines in the most recent base. OK, I did like a few that had only slight RS line declines but other strong ratings.

HERE'S ONE TO WATCH AND LEARN FROM:

One stock you should look at is Arista Networks (ANET). It broke out of a second stage base last Friday with 53% above average volume and has risen nicely.

ANET UPDATE AS OF FRIDAY 1/19: up 10% in 2 weeks from the base breakout signal on January 2 of this year.

ANET was in the 5% buy zone for 7 days after the breakout. If you have been reading this column on investing in individual stocks, you had ample time to buy ANET! It could dip back in, but that doesn't look too likely. With current politics, who knows?!

I do not make recommendations in this newsletter – but will sometimes point out educational opportunities one to learn from. Do your own research and make your own decisions! It has an RS line that held up over that cup!

RECENT NOTES THAT ARE STILL RELEVANT:

Earnings season is upon us! Review your holdings to decide if you are willing to risk a sudden “adjustment” in their prices if an earnings surprise disappoints.

An 8% gain in your stock can be a buffer to protect you against a temporary drop response to its earnings announcement. If your stock has not produced at least an 8% gain, you may want to exit it or protect your portfolio against a negative earnings result with a stop. Some protective strategies include:

1. Put in a stop loss order to automatically sell your stock if it dips too much.
2. Sell stocks without an 8% buffer (gain.)
3. Buy a protective put.

Please talk to your broker if you are not clear on which of these strategies is right for you. Each can be tricky to implement and yield a nasty surprise if not set up correctly.

YOU ARE NOT SMARTER THAN THE MARKET

You can remember my second lesson for every new investor:

THE MARKET AND STOCKS CONTINUE IN THE DIRECTION THEY ARE GOING..... UNTIL THEY DON'T.

I bet a few of you are asking, "What is the first lesson?"
You might know it so well that you have integrated it your investing and forgotten it:

PROTECT YOUR PORTFOLIO WITH AN 8% STOP

And, yes. You may have chosen a tighter 7% or 6% stop. The most important aspect of this first rule is:

CHOOSE YOUR STOP & LIVE BY IT – NO EXCUSES!

And you don't have to wait for your stock to fall to the stop. A concentration of distribution is a good reason to get out wherever it happens!

Uptrending markets usually climb a "wall of worry." The more worry, the better the climb. Consider these perspectives:

- If you heard a lot of worrying news and believed the market was ready to fail, you would sell much of your stock at today's "high prices." If the market continues to rise after you sold, you would eventually reinvest in the market to participate in the uptrend. You would have missed the profit between your leaving the market and getting back in it.
- The lesson: Follow the market strength signals, not the dramatic words on the news.

Don't be one of the inexperienced investors convinced to sell in an Uptrending market.

Remember:

The market AND YOUR STOCKS continue in the direction they are going until they don't.

MARKET DIAGNOSIS: "UPTREND"

What to do now:

1. WATCH YOUR INVESTMENTS CLOSELY: Do a quick review of each stock you own every night. Look for strength and weakness signals in the price-volume action, especially watching for distribution (signs of institutional selling)

2. DON'T LOSE YOUR GAINS: Sell any stock that is showing a concentration of distribution days
3. If you need cash for a hot new breakout, consider selling a stock that was a strong buy but hasn't taken off. It might be languishing near the buy point or it might have already round-tripped – risen from a good buy point and bombed back or below the buy price.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS FOR THE

MARKET ACTION OVER THE LAST 20 DAYS

Four weeks of price and volume action reveal much about the direction of the market and the strength of that movement.

		Price		Volume
Healthy Uptrend Price-Volume Movement	Strong Action	Up	↑	↑	Up
	Weaker Action	Down	↓	↓	Down
Healthy Downtrend Price-Volume- Movement	Strong Action	Down	↓	↑	Up
	Weaker Action	Up	↑	↓	Down

The chart below identifies the market direction indicated by the Nasdaq's price and volume action for the last 20 days at two levels of significance.

ACCUMULATION/DISTRIBUTION COLUMN - TELLS YOU WHERE THE BIG MONEY IS GOING

The listing includes: the date, Nasdaq closing price and percent change of the Nasdaq price and volume.

- The next column identifies days that were Major Accumulation (serious UPTREND indicator) or Major Distribution (serious Downtrend indicator) using the 1% minimum rise or fall with higher volume.
- Minor accumulation and minor distribution days are also identified – days that moved 0.2% or more but less than 1%.

"CONSISTENT WITH" – THE SUBTLE, BUT TELLING MOVES

The last column is an UPTREND /Downtrend indicator.

Think of a healthy Uptrend. It will have many days where the index rises with increased volume.

But even in the most robust Uptrend, * not every day will be up. In any Uptrend, there will be some down days. If they have higher volume, then the day becomes a distribution day but if the volume is lighter (as frequently happens in an Uptrend), then the down day is NOT a distribution day. In fact, a drop on lighter 4747.62 volume says they market is NOT selling off heavily – good news and consistent with the Uptrend.

Using the Healthy UPTREND/Downtrend price and volume movement listed above.

- For example, if the Nasdaq closing price rose 0.7% and the volume rose 2% (up and up), that movement is “consistent with” the price-volume action of a Healthy UPTREND.
- If the price drops 0.5% and the volume rises 1.2% (down and up), that movement is “consistent with” the price-volume action of a Healthy Downtrend as indicated in the table above.
- Any index change less than + or – 0.3% or volume change less than + or – 1% has no “consistent with” notation. Price and volume movements that small is not strong enough to tell us about the market movement.

EXAMPLE OF ACCUMULATION AND DISTRIBUTION WITH EXPANDED EXPLANATION OF TERMS:

Today's Market Action with explanation
2/5/16	Index Close	Index % Change	Volume % Change	Volume vs 50-day Avg	Accumulation or Distribution Day?	Current Trend: DOWNTREND Began 1/4/2015
Index	4363.14	-3.2%	+13.8%	+21.8%	Major Distribution	+11.3%
S&P500	1879.92	-1.9%	NYSE Volume		Neither	+6.6%
NYSE	9,390.33	-1.5%	-5.3%	+15.0%	Neither	+6.2%
DJIA	16,204.62	-1.3%			Neither	+5.5%

A Major Accumulation Day: Price RISES 1.0% or more and higher Volume than the day before
A Minor accumulation Day: Price RISES 0.2% or more and Volume is strong (either higher volume or is well-above average volume)

A Major Distribution Day: Price FALLS 1.0% or more and higher Volume than the day before.
A Minor distribution Day: Price FALLS 0.2% or more, Volume is strong (either higher volume or is well-above average volume)

A Stalling minor distribution Day: Only in an up-trending index or stock, price is FLAT or DOWN slightly compared to the day before, closing in the bottom half of the day's range and volume is heavier or about equal to the day before or strong compared to the past market. It's the price closing low in the day's range after an uptrend that is the key for this designation. Price close to flat and higher or consistent volume indicates the big money (institutions: mutual funds, banks, etc.) are gently selling, trying to sneak out so you won't notice.

 The "CURRENT TREND" column calculates how far each index has moved in the current trend assuming you purchased the index (which is not buyable) at the opening price on the day after the trend change signal.

- When this column is GREEN, the index has moved in the direction of the market trend.
- HOWEVER, when this column is RED, the index change has fallen into negative territory (which could be a rise during a Downtrend)

An ACCUMULATION day points at heavy buying by institutional money managers - the mutual funds, pension funds, banks, etc.
A DISTRIBUTION day points at heavy selling by institutional money managers.
