CURRENT MARKET DIRECTION: UPTREND under PRESSURE

Armchair Investor Trend-following Investment Position:	Waiting in Cash.
Armchair Investor 2020 Returns See trade details on page 2	+43.9% year-to-date In 11 trades! (see page 2)

THE MARKET’S MESSAGE: In the last week, the market has shown significant weakness on all 5 trading days! Review last week on page 3.

Three of the last 4 trading days were distribution days putting the market diagnosis “Under Pressure” and causing me to sell the QQQ position, waiting in cash for a clearer direction. Note the market has tried to rise above the 9/2 all-time highs and failed yet again on Monday. (Note: this week, the market ended showing some strength.)

With this concentration of distribution days, I was sour enough on this 2-month sideways market to get out of the QQQ at Friday’s open. See the last 20-days on page 4. Here’s what to look for:

- 11/9 Major Distribution day: Nasdaq -1.5% with volume +40.0%
- 11/10 Major Distribution day: Nasdaq -1.4% with volume that was lower than the prior day, still 25% above average, the third highest daily volume in almost 4 months.
- 11/11 A “Neither” day: Nasdaq rose 2.0% but gave it no strength with low volume.
- 11/12 Minor distribution day: Nasdaq -0.7% with volume +1.8%
- 11/13 Another “Neither” day: Nasdaq rose 1.0% and again, gave it no strength with a 6% drop in volume.

Remember, this week was the third time the market paused around 12,000 in over 2 months – and the weakest. Monday’s touch above 12,000 hit a new high (by 0.3%), then it gave it all back with a 3.3% crash by the end of the day.

Correction: The last Uptrend move was announced in the 11/4 newsletter for purchase at the open on 11/5 (as shown above). The QQQ position was bought at the open price on the following morning 11/5 (not 11/6 as shown in past newsletter.)
 To track the gain or loss in the current position, you must see:

- the opening price for the last purchase signal (in this case the QQQ at 293.41 on 11/5) and if you have any questions about the above table or something else in this newsletter, or suggestions how to make it clearer or more valuable, please call me to discuss.
- the current price as shown above.

Another suggestion was to show how a portfolio would grow during the year. Thus, the new column on the right.

Thank you! Charlotte (214) 995-6702 Note: I am always looking at how I can enhance the information in this newsletter. Your suggestions help me do that. Keep 'em coming!

A Major Accumulation Day:	Price RISES 1.0% or more with higher Volume than prior day.
A Major Distribution Day:	Price FALLS 1.0% or more with higher Volume than the day before.
A Minor accumulation Day:	Price RISES at least 0.2% and less than 1% with strong Volume (either higher than the day before or is well-above average volume).
A Minor distribution Day:	Price FALLS at least 0.2% and less than 1% with strong Volume (either higher than the day before or is well-above average volume).
A Neither day:	Price/volume action does not meet accumulation or distribution criteria (a lower volume day and/or a day that did not rise or fall more than 0.2%.

MARKET FACTORS, COUNTS & RATINGS

11/13/2020

Last week was troublesome. The Nasdaq ended down slightly (-0.6%), the S&P500 up 2.2%, and the DJIA up 4.1%. All with much stronger volume, See the MARKET ACTION table on page 5.

MARKET ACTION (Nasdaq) OVER THE LAST 20 DAYS

(For a full explanation of the terms used in this table see end of this newsletter)

The current Uptrend is failing. On page 2, you can see I have bought into this market 3 times since the beginning of September....and lost money each time. With the recent concentration of 3 distribution days (and 2 weak days) out of 5 trading days, I am stepping out of this market. Cash is always a safe place to wait out uncertain times.

Notice the BIG growth in “A” and “B” rated stocks over the last 2 weeks.

The A + B stocks almost double in the last 2 weeks, rising from 35% to 65%.

That growth in that growing percent of “A” and “B” rated stocks (shown in the table below) indicates that the institutional investors are now buying stocks heavily. But why?

Are they buying to get you to buy in high so they can again drop the price and get you to sell it low?

Or is it because they believe they have scared out most of the persuadable individual investors and it's time for the market to start rising again?

I am still comfortable waiting on the sidelines after 3 losses in a row. (The last 2 were modest losses (1.2% and 1.2%) – but I don't like any losses just the same.) I watch for the Nasdaq to break above its 12074.07 all-time high on 9/2 of this year with higher volume to consider getting back in.

And if the market drops, there may be an earlier entry point. Stay tuned!.

PROGRESS IN ACCUMULATION/DISTRIBUTION RATINGS
The increase in the stocks with “A” or “B” Accumulation/Distribution ratings is interesting. There is significant buying of best stocks going on.

I'm still working on this article. Project #1

How Wall Street Takes Your Money with Clever “Buy LOW and Sells HIGH” Strategy” and How NOT to be Fooled into giving them your money.

Wall Street firms pay their best money managers multi-million dollar bonus.

Where do they get those funds? Merrill Lynch doesn't earn that money from TD Ameritrade, Fidelity, etc.. They take it from you, the individual investors. Here is how!

At the start of 2020, very few suspected the coming Covid-19 pandemic. Look at a daily chart of the Nasdaq and notice until 2/19, the market had risen and fallen with the volatility it had for years.....

.....To my readers: You may have noticed my note in Wednesday's newsletter that I had lost an article I wrote in that day's newsletter – an exploration of “How Wall Street Takes Your Money.” It was simple and to the point.

But the new version keeps getting more and more detailed as I write it – as I see more details or nuggets of gold to add.

I will finish this piece later (Soon I hope) ... Stay tuned.

By the way.....If you have any ideas on this topic you would like to add, I would love to hear it.

PROJECT #2: For the subscriber to my weekly classes.

I do have a beta version of my day-to-day Stock Tracking Excel Spreadsheet ready to send out for your comments.

If you are now (or have been an annual paid subscriber to the Armchair Investor CLASSES) and would like to try out the Daily Tracking sheet, and willing to send back suggestions,

Current Signs of Market Weakness as of Friday 11/13/2020

- The Nasdaq had 3 Distribution days out of the last 5 trading days (the 4th and 5th days were non-directional “Neither” day shown as “–” on the “Market Action” table. They were rising days without confirming higher volume.
- The S&P500 had 4 Major Distribution days out of the last 13 trading days.
- The Nasdaq and S&P500 Major indexes have been stuck under their 2020 all-time highs for 10 weeks (ignoring intraday highs)! The DJIA is below its February 2020 high.
- The Nasdaq and S&P500 twice tried to beat their 9/2 highs without success. This Uptrend does NOT have wings (yet???).
- The Nasdaq’s Accumulation/Distribution rating rose from E to D+ in 2 days at the end of last week, but faltered and fell back to E on Monday and has stayed there (The S&P500 climbed up to C+ this week)
- >>>The Leader stocks RISING versus FALLING is a disappointing 1.3 ratio. This low ratio is an indicator of broad selling of the best stocks! A rating below 1.5 indicates an uncertain Uptrend OR a rotation away from exhausted, out of favor leader stocks as new leaders emerge. (A rating below 1.0 is weak.)
- With Trump’s holding out on calling the election results, the governmental transition may be very difficult causing confusion and possible international weakness. The market hates uncertainty.

Current Signs of Market Strength

- Although the Accumulation/Distribution rating usually changes slowly, the rise in in the S&P500 and DJIA indexes from the lowest “E” rating to “C+” in just 4 trading days indicates buying strength in the new Uptrend. Nasdaq is an “E”.
- On Monday, 11/9 the S&P500 flew to a new high, then reversed to close down 2.7% for the day,
- The stocks with the best accumulation ratings of “A” and “B” rates rose from 47% to 65% in just one week, indicating there is some serious buying going on. (But I am uncomfortable with this market as a whole and am waiting to see how it settles out.)
- The major indexes are now ABOVE their 50-day and 200-day m.a. lines.
- The markets seem to be returning to a more “normal” volume. The Nasdaq volume has dropped to less than half of its February-March Downtrend inflated volume. The “higher than pre-virus volume” is still an indicator of the arrival and playing by “Newbies” who may well dump out of their stocks quickly if the market starts to fall causing a faster crash.

THE NASDAQ UPWARD AND DOWNWARD CHANNELS

One of the features I like about Investors.com's MarketSmith charts is that I can draw in my own channel lines.

Below is the Nasdaq chart for the last 12 months. It shows:

- the January+ Uptrend that continued in the beginning of the year,
- The pink downtrend as the market crashed in February-March
- The amazing 5-month rise (Uptrend) of the market since March low.

Did you know annotations stay on the MarketSmith charts! Bravo to the designers. My notations will stay on the MarketSmith charts for years! I can go back and visit how I saw the market in 2000, 2008, 2015-16, etc.

That is one of MarketSmith's many truly unique and valuable features! I don't have to figure out what happened in those past periods again

My annotations are there! Updated, Tuesday 10/19/2020. Vertical red lines identify distribution days (down days with higher volume indicating serious selling.)

>>>> I HIGHLY RECOMMEND IBD's MarketSmith for your investing CHARTS! Note the excellent annotations and markups I have added on the chart below.

Go to MarketSmith.com to try it out. All my distribution day notations (pink vertical lines) will be visible for years! I recently went back to the 2000 high. Yes – annotations were there! The vertical red lines indicate “distribution days” of serious selling.

DO YOU MAKE THESE INVESTING MISTAKES?

COMPARISON of the NASDAQ, S&P500 and DJIA Growth

(updated weekly on Fridays)

The chart below shows the one-year returns of the Nasdaq, the S&P500 and the DJIA. Where should you go shopping? The answer for me? Nasdaq! And, yes! I will buy a top stock wherever I find it! These results are why I focus on the Nasdaq and QQQ for my trend-following strategy:

REMEMBER: BUY & HOLD IS NOT A STRONG INVESTING STRATEGY.

Imagine the difference in returns if you could just wait in cash as the market falls and get back in as it starts back up!

- It isn't necessary to get in at the bottom or out at the top!
- Just stepping out of the market somewhere near the top and getting back in near the bottom has had a HUGE IMPACT on my portfolio.

It can take YEARS to complete a market Downtrend (correction) then recover back to where you were.

An EXAMPLE OF WHY BUY-AND-HOLD COSTS YOU BIG BUCKS THIS YEAR.

- Over the last year, a “buy and hold” strategy has earned 15% for the S&P500. “Buy and hold” worked better for the Nasdaq earning 42%. But wait....
- If you invested with the Armchair Investor strategy, you are UP 51% for 2020. (see page 2 for daily updates of current Armchair Investor Strategy returns)
- Where do you want your money invested? Here's where many answer: “The Armchair Investor strategy!”

One last note: IF you invest in individual stocks, the best can be found on both major indexes (the Nasdaq and S&P500). Be sure to find the stocks with best ratings, base action and breakouts.

MARKET/CHART READING LESSON:

The MarketSmith Relative Strength Line – My favorite!

Go to any chart on the Investors.com web page. You will see the bumpy line labeled RS for Relative Strength. This line moves up or down with each price bar showing if this stock or index rose more or less than the S&P500.

Look at the Nasdaq daily chart (0NDQC) and notice that the RS line has risen since the Oct 2019 low, indicating it has earned higher returns.

Go to the monthly chart and note that the Nasdaq has consistently outperformed the S&P500. (not ever month but most). The S&P500 does have some great stocks. That rising RS line tells us that, over time, the Nasdaq as a whole has done better than the S&P500. But just like shopping for groceries, I will buy from the market that has the best fruit, on any given day.

The Nasdaq continues to outperform the S&P500. Watch the RS line on Investors.com charts. This important line shows you how a stock or index is performing compared to the S&P500. A rising line indicates that stock or index has risen faster than the S&P500 (measured in percentage change.)

Note: Do not confuse IBD's RS line with the RSI line some charting system use. The RS measures how a stock is moving compared to the S&P500. Rising faster gives a higher rating. Investopedia.com states: The relative strength index (RSI) is a momentum indicator that measures the magnitude of recent price changes to evaluate "overbought" or "oversold" conditions in the price of a stock or other asset.

The problem I have found with the RSI line is that some of the best, rising stocks can push an RSI line to the top of the rating (indicating overbought) just when I have a buy signal. As always, I tell you to use the indicators you find useful (profitable).

I am excited about the settling down in market volume. But I continue to be concerned about the sustained day-to-day price volatility. It is surely affected by the uncertainty of the upcoming earnings announcements. BE SURE YOUR STOPS ARE IN PLACE.

Every Day's Lesson: Whether you agree with your stock's daily results or not...

- YOUR JOB is to monitor its daily results and adjust your action accordingly.
 - Monday: Monitor.....and.....adjust.
 - Tuesday: Monitor.....and.....adjust.
 - Wednesday: Monitor.....and.....adjust.
 - Thursday: Monitor.....and.....adjust.
 - Friday: Monitor.....and.....adjust.
 - (repeat)

KEY MARKET CONCEPTS USED IN THIS NEWSLETTER

If the horse you are riding, dies. GET OFF!

When the market (or your stock) dies – whether that is in a year, a month or tomorrow, the Armchair Investor Strategy will NOT “stay the course” and we won’t ride a falling market down. Instead, we will use our 20 years of market direction experience to identify optimum times to be in the market and times to be out of the market. (not guaranties!) (PS I love horses. They are amazing companions.)

Using my day-to-day price-volume analysis, my students and I have consistently been able to make money by:

“Getting IN near the bottom” and “Getting OUT near the top.”

The Armchair Investor strategy has allowed me to earn well-above-average returns since the 2000 top! See page 2 for this year’s exciting wins!

UNDERSTANDING THE “CONSISTENT WITH” COLUMN in the “MARKET ACTION (Nasdaq) OVER THE LAST 20 DAYS” TABLE

Prepare yourself for a NEW ECONOMY!

I expect a major shift in how we do business: more online appointments, more working from home, reduced business travel (with reduced costs to businesses) We might actually see this lockdown period as a slingshot into the a new, sleeker way of conducting business. And each of those new trends will help some business (online meetings, internet providers, online schools, casual clothing, healthy ready-to-eat food....)

>>>>>>>>> I would like to hear your ideas of where the big gains will occur!

Which industry groups and specific companies will thrive and which will dive in the after pandemic new economy???

WILL HISTORY REPEAT ITSELF? In the financial crisis of 2007, it took the market 2 1/2 years to recover the 56% drop. Worse yet was the reaction to the dot.com 90's market over-inflation that crashed in March of 2000 and took 19 years for the market to "break even."

WHAT CAN WE (INDIVIDUAL INVESTORS) DO NOW? ONE lesson I have learned from every greatest investor I have studied:

HUMAN NATURE DOESN'T CHANGE.

That is why the cups and handles, double bottoms, etc. continue to work. HUMAN NATURE DOESN'T CHANGE. Human's nature is to survive and we are, therefore, fear and greed driven. And that is what cups and handles, double bottoms, etc. are all about.

Stick with the Armchair Investor non-emotional, fact-based analysis to ride the market as it rises and exit as it falls. I have never been ashamed of exiting a failing market or stock..... or of riding a winner up, no matter what "they" say.

A SIMILAR TIME IN HISTORY I've been looking for past examples and see a close one in 1998: a 33% drop during the "dotcom" rally in 1998, Everyone was sure 1998 was the top and got out. When it turned around, they all jumped in again.

When the 2000 crash occurred, their brokers told them to stay in because, "...It always comes back! Just look at 1998. When this market fails, I will just say, "GET OUT."

Reminder: I do not make recommendations - just ideas to consider.

BONUS CHART-READING HISTORY LESSONS:

Look at a Nasdaq or S&P500 daily chart as it crashed off the February 2020 all-time highs. (Charts are at the end of this newsletter.)

Notice the DOWN-TRENDING pattern of:

- frequent higher volume DOWN days (serious selling) and
- frequent lower volume UP days (lack of commitment to the upward move).

NOW NOTICE A SHIFT IN the PRICE-VOLUME PATTERN AS THE MARKET SLOWED DOWN AND THEN STARTED RISING:

- More consecutive rising days with higher volume (Nasdaq)
- A fresh upward move of 4 rising days in a row (Nasdaq)
- Those moves in the last week bring hope that this Uptrend is gathering steam AND it brings a concern that irrational exuberance may be driving this Uptrend.
- EITHER WAY – I am happy to ride this Uptrend until it dies... next week, next month or next year. STAY TUNED!

This “change in personality” is common when a Downtrend becomes an Uptrend.

DISTRIBUTION DAYS: >>> Scan across the volume over the last four weeks on a daily chart below. You will see almost all the tall volume bars (sticking up above their neighbors) are ... RED, showing higher volume on down days. T

HOW TO SEE DISTRIBUTION ON 2-COLOR CHARTS!

Distribution action is easiest to see when you are on a chart with two color volume lines, usually red for falling price days and green (or blue) for rising days. The fastest way to get a sense of the accumulation/distribution going on in a stock or index is to swing your eyes across the volume bars – noting the color of the highest bars - the red volume bar indicates the price dropped that day. The taller bar indicates the volume was higher. (MarketSmith and other IBD charts have this 2-color feature!

REMEMBER:

THE MARKET CONTINUES IN THE DIRECTION IT IS GOING,
.....UNTIL IT DOESN'T !

With the Coronavirus spreading, it could be a... long... cold... year!

>>>>But be sure to watch each stock in your portfolio for additional distribution days to signal an exit point. See selling rules chapter of “How to Make Money in Stocks” by William O’Neil, founder of Investor’s Business Daily.

THE ARMCHAIR INVESTOR TREND-FOLLOWING STRATEGY

A Simple and Powerful Tool to Increase Your Returns

Armchair Investor Mantra:

- Be IN the market when it is going up
- Be OUT of the market when it is going down
- Protect your portfolio with 8% stops.

The primary purpose of this Armchair Investor newsletter is to let you, the reader, earn bigger returns riding the trend of the market.

By following the best (most reliable) market change signals, you can:

- Get in the market near the bottom of a new bull market
- Exit the market near the top, and
 - Capture more of the gains,
 - Avoid more of the losses and, thus
 - Earn higher returns than the “buy-and-hold” strategy recommended by many brokers and money managers!

Why a “Buy-and-Hold” strategy doesn’t work well:

When the market has topped and starts to fall, do you really want to let your profits fade away as the market falls – sometimes for years? Of course not! Selling your uptrend position allows you to capture your gains and store them safely away in cash. What is the right time to exit? This newsletter will show you the market’s signal.

Most downtrends (also called corrections) fall faster than the uptrends rise.

I am not willing to sit in a sick, falling market and lose my hard earned gains!

Cash is a safer position!

Here are the three signals I will give you in this newsletter for the three market conditions:

- Uptrends: When the market rises into an Uptrend, buy and hold the QQQ, a stock that rises with the general market.
- Uptrend showing Weakness: As a market Uptrend starts to fall, you will receive the signal to exit the QQQ and safely wait in cash.
- Downtrends: If the market continues down, you will receive a signal to buy the PSQ, a stock that rises while the market falls.

FINALLY – For individual stocks: Use these market signals to help you when buying individual stocks. You increase your likelihood of a successful stock purchase if you only buy stocks when the market is in an Uptrend. Lesson: Don’t fight the market trend!

HOW CAN YOU CAPTURE THOSE
USE THE ARMCHAIR INVESTOR PLAN:
*It's as easy as 1- 2- 3!

STEP 1: Ride a rising market - hold the QQQ .

STEP 2: Protect your investments during a weakening Uptrend

STEP 3: Go to cash or PSQ in a falling market.

This newsletter will identify the market direction, (step 1, step 2 or step 3) and explain what you can do to grow and protect your portfolio.

STEP 1: In an Uptrend, hold the QQQ, a Nasdaq100 ETF

Find the market direction diagnosis every night in this newsletter.

- In the Uptrend, buy the QQQ the next morning if you don't yet have that position. This newsletter will alert you to the Uptrend signal! The QQQ follows the ups and downs of the Nasdaq100, allowing you to grab the rises of an Uptrend.
- With some additional positive action, you may decide to switch to the double QQQ ETF (QLD) or triple QQQ (TQQQ). I do not recommend these moves for the first time investor.

Just in case protection: When you receive your confirmation of the purchase, place an 8% STOP LOSS order to protect your portfolio from a sudden market reversal (executing this sale is rare – I almost always sell when the market goes into “under pressure” or Downtrend – see Step 2 below). Your broker can help you set up this order.

This upward ride is the most exciting part of trend-following – Ride the escalator up, up, up as the market rises. Exit when the market starts to show significant weakness (read this newsletter nightly!

Although not every Uptrend signal generates a positive return, most do.

STEP 2: When the Uptrend slows down: “Uptrend under Pressure”

“Uptrend under Pressure” is a Warning Message and means:

- The market is showing significant distribution (selling pressure.)
Investors should:
 - Be concerned about the strength of this Uptrend.
During an Uptrend under Pressure, this newsletter may move into CASH position to avoid possible losses.
 - Check on the health of your investments each night! Many investors do not buy new stock positions during this period due to higher failure rates.
- From STEP 2, “Uptrend under Pressure,” the market diagnosis will go one of two ways:
 - Rise with price and volume strength, and return to Uptrend – (STEP 1), or
 - Continue to add more distribution days and fall into a Downtrend (correction)
- This is a time to pay attention to the market behavior.

STEP 3: When the market diagnosis goes to “Downtrend”

Capture much of the gains from the Uptrend by selling your Uptrend ETF position (QQQ, QLD or TQQQ) when the market diagnosis goes into Downtrend to capture much of the gains earned in Steps 1 & 2 above.

After exiting the Uptrend ETF, wait in cash until the next Uptrend signal. More recent Downtrends have been short term and not tradable.

The Uptrend has been years long and strong. The market is due for a long dive. I will invest in the PSQ (inverse QQQ) ETF which makes profits as the market falls!

NOTE: Not every market direction signal ends with a positive return. But overall, this Market Tracking Strategy has outperformed the market when traded according to these signals.

BONUS: Plus the market direction signals will help you by indicating when it is most effective to consider adding individual stocks to your portfolio (with a strong uptrending market).

DO YOU INVEST IN INDIVIDUAL STOCKS?—

Always consider taking some profit if significant distribution is showing up for your individual stocks. However, many individual stocks are rising with gusto! Look at all the lists in the Investor's Business Daily newspaper for stocks breaking out with high volume. They are there!

To get a deeper sense of the health of the market, look at the MARKET FACTORS, COUNTS & RATINGS table included each day in the FULL Armchair Investor newsletter. It looks at 7 key market direction factors and highlights the leaning of each:

- If the factor leans toward the Uptrend, that box will be green
- If the factor leans toward the Downtrend, that box will be orange or red

EXAMPLE of the DAILY MARKET ACTION table with explanation of terms and signals:

THE DAILY MARKET ACTION
9/27/19	Index Close	Index % Change	Volume % Change	Volume vs 50-day Avg.	Accumulation or Distribution Day?	Recent Trend Gain/Loss from 8/13/2019 UPTREND SIGNAL
Nasdaq	7,939.63	-1.1%	+8.5%	-11.0%	Major Distribution	+1.7%
S&P500	2,961.79	-0.5%	NYSE Volume		minor distribution	+3.4%
DJIA	26,820.25	-0.3%	+5.1%	-12.0%	minor distribution	+3.8%

A Major Accumulation Day: Price RISES 1.0% or more with higher Volume than the day before.
A minor accumulation Day: Price RISES 0.2% and less than 1% with strong Volume (either higher than the day before or is well-above average volume).
A Major Distribution Day: Price FALLS 1.0% or more with higher Volume than the day before.
A minor distribution Day: Price FALLS 0.2% and less than 1% with strong Volume (either higher than the day before or is well-above average volume).
If the day's price/volume action does not meet the accumulation or distribution definitions above, it is a neither day.

 The Recent Trend Gains/Losses column calculates how far each index has moved from the recent trend change assuming you purchased the index (in an Uptrend) or sold the index (in a Downtrend) at the opening price on the day after the signal. Although not every year outperforms the common "buy and hold" strategy, using these signals has significantly OUTPERFORMED the buy -and-hold strategy in total since 1/1/2000.

Why are my Final Volumes Sometimes Different than Yours? Why do the volume numbers on this table not always match other web sites? The 4:00 close of the market immediately shows an accurate final price. But the volume figures continue to trickle in for hours. At some time, the accumulation of volume numbers has to be cut off and different sites use different cut-offs. Also, some sources include the volume of stocks listed on one exchange but traded on another (e.g. Apple stock listed on Nasdaq but also traded on other exchanges.) And some sources do not. The most important rule is to consistently use only one source for volume.
